

The Restler Town Homes were a row of town houses built from the ground up in the Historic Landmark District of Savannah. This was a wonderful project that has a simple exterior design, and an amazing interior design, along with exterior courtyards. We have had countless compliments on this project, including a renowned structural engineer stating it was the best craftsmanship he has seen in Savannah. This project was completed one month ahead of schedule. And as always, the Restlers are a pleasure to work for.

"As a real estate developer, the quality of the construction is the most important component to my business. ☐ My company's philosophy from the beginning has been to create residential properties that are both unique and beautiful. I choose to work with Commonwealth Construction because of their amazing craftsmanship and dedication to their work. ☐ Their knowledge of the complete building process, from the foundation to the final trim, allows me to sleep better at night knowing that my investment is in strong and able hands."-The Restlers
